

Making a Zine Page on Disability Activism in Europe

Information About the Project

This zine is about young disabled people and inclusive societies. A zine is a handmade magazine.

Would you like to take part in the making a zine page?

Before you decide, it is important that you understand what the zine is about.

It is important that you understand what taking part means for you. Please read this information sheet carefully.

If you do not understand something, please ask someone close to you to explain.

After you have finished reading this information sheet, you can decide if you want to take part.

If you want to take part you will need to read this sheet and the "agreeing to take part" sheet.

What is the project about?

Miro Griffiths wants to find out what young disabled people think about disability activism across Europe.

Miro

Disability activism can mean doing things like:

Campaigning for inclusion

Protecting disabled people's rights

Protests

Contacting important people

Miro is doing this project because he is a researcher at the University of Leeds. Research means finding out about things and why they happen.

Miro wants to find out how young disabled people get involved in disability activism.

Miro thinks it is important that young disabled people take part in disability activism if they want to.

Miro hopes this project will show how young disabled people can take part in disability activism. Miro also hopes it will show where young disabled people are already being included in disability activism.

Why do you want me to take part?

Miro wants to find out what young disabled people's ideas about accessible and inclusive societies.

Miro wants young disabled people to make a page for a zine about accessible and inclusive societies.

To take part in making a zine page:

you will need to be 18 to 35 years old

Then you can make a zine page using the instructions from this website:

<https://disabilityactivism.leeds.ac.uk/getting-involved-in-the-research-2/zine-disability-activism-in-europe/>

You can stop taking part at any time. You don't have to tell Miro why if you don't want to.

What will happen to me if I take part?

You can make a zine page using the instructions from this website:

<https://disabilityactivism.leeds.ac.uk/getting-involved-in-the-research-2/zine-disability-activism-in-europe/>

You can then send your zine page to Miro.

It will take about 45 minutes to make a zine page.

What will Miro ask me?

Miro will ask you to draw or write about what accessibility and inclusion means to you.

Miro will read through your zine page and learn from your ideas.

You will be able to keep a copy of your zine page and the completed zine. The completed zine will have pages from lots of disabled people.

You will have the option to give Miro your email address if you want to take part in more research about disability activism.

Will taking part be good or bad for me?

Taking part will take up some of your time.

Miro cannot pay you for taking part.

Will you tell people what I say?

Miro will share the completed zine with anybody who wants to see it.

You can take part in the zine but hide your identity. This means you can still take part but people will not know you took part.

Miro will think about everybody's zine pages.
